

COLLABORATIONS IN 21ST CENTURY INFRASTRUCTURE DESIGN

Landscape architects are increasingly leading the design of contemporary infrastructure and fostering exchange with engineering disciplines. This program features the collaborations behind two works by SCAPE Landscape Architecture – presented by Gena Wirth, ASLA and Pippa Brashear, ASLA – that reveal disciplinary conflicts and methodological differences, as well as the positive capacity of these intensive partnerships have to expand the performance and enhance the function of contemporary infrastructure.